

MAN'S DEATH CAUSED BY TILL'S PLASTER

Demise of Michael O'Brien Result of Blood Poisoning From Coating
Put On by Plaster Doctor.

That a plaster applied by J. M. Till, the plaster doctor, to the back of Michael O'Brien of Darion, who died at Mercy hospital on Saturday, was the indirect cause of his death is the statement made by Dr. T. W. Nuzum who attended the deceased. The man at the time of his death was suffering severely with a swelling of the prostate glands and from blood poisoning, both of which were caused by the plaster which was applied to the man's back.

According to what Mrs. O'Brien says, Mr. O'Brien had had pain in his back but was not ill. Some neighbors who lived near him persuaded him that he ought to see the plaster doctor and get him to accompany them. He accordingly went and had a plaster put on, wearing it seven days. When the plaster was removed he had a very sore back.

After the blisters, boils came and then a carbuncle. These in turn were followed by piles and when the man was brought to Janesville the prostate glands were swollen and blood poisoning set in. An attempt was made to better his condition by opening the abscesses but it was not successful.

In explanation of how the plaster caused the trouble of the Darion man and the blisters on the backs of the others, Dr. Nuzum said: "This plaster that Till puts on the backs of his patients contains Croton's oil. Over the plaster he puts a coating of cotton which keeps out the air. In twenty-four hours this forms a blister and causes pus to form. Now, twenty-five years ago we thought that a wound could not heal unless pus formed, but since then science has made wonderful strides in the discovery of bacteria. Pus is caused by bacteria.

"When the cotton coating is put over the Croton's oil, it allows all the bacteria on the back of the person to grow so that inside of twenty-four hours the person has a blistered back. The blister in itself is not so harmful if the plaster were removed and the place where the oil has been applied, is cleaned. In fact, in cases of lumbago and rheumatism, it might be helpful. But the coating of pus and all is allowed to remain six or seven days and when the plaster is removed the patient is generally sick with it. The pus is absorbed by the system and is harmful to it."

Another objectionable feature of Till's method, it is alleged, is that the back of the patient is not cleansed when the plaster is applied and the brush he used is used for treating everybody. In this way there are thousands of bacteria that are harmful that are allowed to grow and the person receives not only bacteria from his own body, but from the back of hundreds of others that the brush has accumulated when used in swabbing their backs.

The bacteria, it is alleged by physicians, is allowed to propagate by keeping the air, multiply, until there are millions and millions of them.

MISSIONARIES FROM CHINA ENTERTAINED

Dr. and Mrs. Seymour Are Being Entertained by Members of the Presbyterian Church.

For the past three years the Presbyterian church of this city has been contributing to the support of Dr. W. F. Seymour and wife, missionaries in Tanchow, China. After fifteen years' service these foreign missionaries are home on a furlough of one year and are being entertained this week by the members of the Presbyterian church. A general reception was given to them at the church on Friday evening. On Sunday evening the doctor spoke on his work as a medical missionary. Today the Ebenezer, a club of Presbyterian ladies who are doing some special work for the hospital in China, entertain Mrs. Seymour at the home of Mrs. Jesse Moore at the home of Mrs. Jesse Moore at the home of Mrs. Jesse Moore.

This evening the doctor will give a stereoscopic lecture on China at the church. Tomorrow, Wednesday, the Ladies' Aid society will entertain all the ladies of the congregation in honor of Mrs. Seymour at the home of Mrs. Laughlin, 320 North Jackson.

The members of the Presbyterian church esteem it a rare privilege to have these foreign representatives in their homes. Fifteen years' service

A WIDOW'S LUCK

Quit the Thing that Was Slowly Killing Her.

A woman tells how coffee kept her from insuring her life: "I suffered for many years, chiefly from trouble with my heart, with severe nervous headaches and neuritis; but although incapacitated at times for my housework, I did not realize the gravity of my condition till I was rejected for life insurance, because the examining physician said my heart was so bad he could not pass me. This distressed me very much, as I was a widow and had a child dependent upon me. It was to protect my future that I wanted to insure my life.

"Fortunately for me, I happened to read an advertisement containing a testimonial from a man who had been affected in the same way that I was with heart trouble, and who was cured by leaving off coffee and using Postum. I grasped at the hope this held out, and made the change at once.

"My health began to improve immediately. The headaches and neuritis disappeared. I gained in flesh, and my appetite came back to me at once. Greatest of all, my heart was strengthened from the beginning, and soon all the distressing symptoms passed away. Then I again made application for life insurance, and had no trouble in passing the medical examination.

"It was seven years ago that I began to use Postum, and I am using it still, and shall continue to do so, as I find it a guarantee of good health."

"There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

with but one year rest—service, amid conditions too horrible to describe—entitles the missionary to some consideration and honor, although he may be quite unconscious that he has done more than the ordinary man. But the ordinary man stays close to his home, clings to comfortable conditions and moves in the direction of the least resistance. It is the extraordinary man who breaks with old customs, becomes a pioneer and extends the borders of civilization.

Dr. Seymour makes no boastful heralding of his work but from his address of Sunday evening it was learned that he is not only a physician who with scant equipment has treated over 7,000 patients during the last year, and that he is the superintendent of one of the largest Presbyterian Sunday Schools in China and that he and five other missionaries have to minister to a parish containing one million souls distributed among fifteen hundred cities and villages.

Dr. Seymour and his native helper are the only trained physicians in a population of five hundred thousand. The work these men are doing is hampered by the lack of a properly equipped hospital.

Dr. Seymour is not only a fluent speaker of the Chinese language but he has succeeded in surmounting the difficulties of the printed page as to become a recognized translator. He has been placed upon the Sunday school committee for the Empire of China, and has given much time to the preparation of the Sunday school lessons.

The Most Up-to-Date and Sanitary Bakery in the Middle West

The Colvin Baking Company Has Made Wonderful Improvements

The New Home of Colvin's Baking Company, 300-304 East Milwaukee St.

Janesville is indeed fortunate in its industries, and now to add to its already large list, the Colvin Baking Company has erected one of the most modern and sanitary baking plants in the United States. The location of the plant is ideal, being situated half way up the Milwaukee street hill, away from the factories, railroads and the dust and dirt of the downtown district. The building is a two story built of red brick with full basement the ceiling of which being 5 feet above the level of the sidewalk. As one enters from the front, the doors on either side lead to the office and the retail store. Directly behind this is the shipping room, then the cake and pastry room and to the side the washroom, and a special room for the making of doughnuts. Back of the cake room is the bread room. On the East side of the building an addition has been built which adjoins the back end of the ovens and this is called the "drum alley." Here the fuel, the ashes, and the dirt from the furnace is kept, entirely separate from the baking plant.

The second floor contains the store room for flour, the blending bins, the elevator and cleaner. This floor is especially adapted for its purpose, being high, dry, light, clean and well ventilated. An endless chain elevator is used in conveying the sacks of flour up to the second floor.

The basement is used for the storing of eggs, sugar, molasses and canned goods and is kept at a cooler temperature. The plans were drawn by Sutton North, from the ideas submitted by Mr. Paul Colvin who has looked over other modern plants in large cities to get the best ideas of a baking plant. Ford and Hous had the contract and built the plant.

The retail store is fitted with glass show cases neatly arranged, and carries a full line of the goods made by the Company. The retail store at 121 W. Milwaukee St. is still being continued as in the past and always has its full stock of goods.

The shipping room has every facility for the quick handling of goods, having two entrances for the loading and unloading of wagons, closed cupboards in which the goods are kept while waiting to be packed.

The cake room is a model of its kind. It has its separate oven, faced with white enamel brick. The oven is a fish rotary, being 14 feet in diameter circular in form and is considered the best oven in the world for baking pastry and cakes. The heating of this oven is arranged so as to receive an equal amount of heat from top to bottom. The baking surface of the oven is made of soap stone blocks, the kind that our forefathers used for baking apple cakes. Specially devised cabinets are used to contain the materials used in this department. Howard Horton, is foreman.

The washing room, for the cleansing of pans etc., has large stationary enamel tubs, a plentiful supply of hot water and direct connection with the sewers. All the washing is done in this room, to maintain a high standard of cleanliness in the baking apartments.

The bread room is equipped with every requirement of a most modern bakery. It contains two large Dührkop bread ovens. These ovens are made by the Dührkop Oven Co., of 113 Park Row Bldg., New York, one of the best manufacturers of Bread Ovens in the world. The Dührkop oven is used in every modern bakery in all the principal cities of the east and west. It is designed especially for bread baking and the temperature of these ovens is raised 150 degrees higher than the cake ovens. Better results are obtainable in both bread and cake baking by having separate ovens.

There is a wonderful difference between baking bread in a Dührkop oven and baking it in an ordinary oven. Colvin's bread is baked in steam ovens, supplemented to a very high degree. The ovens are made tight so as to retain the steam rising from the bread, but that is not enough, and other steam is forced into the oven, and thus every particle of natural moisture is baked right into the bread. The results obtained are wonderful. When bread is baked in a dry heat, the crust becomes crisp and heat cannot penetrate to the center of the loaf, and often the yeast cells are not baked and continue to ferment after the bread is baked. When moisture is used in the baking the crust does not become hard and allows the heat to enter the center of the loaf. Michael Byrnes has charge of this department.

The machine for mixing the dough was installed by the J. H. Day Co., of Cincinnati, O. It has two speeds so that the mixing can be regulated as desired according to the desire of the baker. This mixer will mix any quantity from 5 lbs. to 3 barrels. The hopper which contains the flour is placed directly over the mixing machine and is balanced upon a scale, so that all flour is measured by weight. A special receptacle is used for bringing all water to proper temperature before it goes to the mixing machine. This receptacle is heated by a thin film of steam and is adjusted to a balance scale, so that the water, as well as the flour is weighed. A rotary pump being used to convey the water to the mixer. This eliminates the handling of material by hands. In this way guessing at the proper quantity is eliminated.

The blending machines are on the second floor. Two kinds of patent flour is used entirely by this firm, the flour being made from wheat grown in different sections of the country. It is claimed by expert bakers that this is productive of best results. The machines for the blending and cleaning of these flours, the hopper, water tank, and scales were installed by Fred Wolf of Kansas City, Mo. The flour enters the blending machines on the second floor and is lifted and raised and dropped to the main floor through the elevator when it is elevated through another shaft to the second floor and run through the sieve. Before the flour comes from this machine it is sifted thoroughly and goes through the silk holding cloth through cleaning it.

The proofing room is quite an innovation in bread-making. The room is set aside for the purpose of raising the dough. The temperature is always regulated to 90 degrees, and in order that the proper amount of moisture may be kept in this room steam is forced into it under pressure.

Sanitary toilets have been installed in the drum alley, and a shower bath is placed conveniently for the employees use.

The whole plant is ideally arranged and has capacity for a greater output than it is at present necessary. The corner location of the building places it where it will get its full quota of sunshine, and Mr. Colvin, knowing the purifying effects of sunshine and light has taken full advantage of the windows, so that all floors, including the basement, are remarkably well lighted. The entire plant is well ventilated throughout and every effort has been made to make the plant the most modern and sanitary bakery in the entire state. From 22 to 25 people are employed by the Colvin Baking Company, making it a great help to Janesville.

The company enjoys both local and out of town patronage and is now shipping to points 150 miles either direction from Janesville.

HASKELL FIGHTS INDICTMENT.

Governor Claims Bill Charging Fraud Is Illegal.

Tulsa, Okla., Apr. 6.—Gov. Charles N. Haskell, when called before the federal court yesterday to answer to indictments charging him with fraud in connection with Muskogee town lot cases, made a hard fight against the case coming to trial.

Judge Marshall of Utah, who is presiding, heard extended arguments by both sides in the matter of Haskell's demurrer and likely will render a decision today.

Gov. Haskell's attorneys began their fight by asking that the indictments be quashed, charging Special Attorney Charles Rush with misconduct in conducting the grand jury inquiry which resulted in the inquiry. It also was charged that the grand jury had been illegally drawn, that a stenographer had been present during the inquiry and that incompetent testimony had been the basis of the indictments. These allegations were vigorously denied by the government counsel.

A great crowd attended the opening of the trial. People came from all parts of the state to see the unusual spectacle of a governor on trial for alleged fraud.

Photograph of exterior and interior of Free Municipal lodging in New York City.

New York.—The free lodging recently opened at No. 43 East Twenty-fifth street in the most modern structure of the kind in the world. It was erected and is maintained by the city and will accommodate nearly 1,000 people, including the help. One advance step which is proving a complete success is that it provides for women as well as men.

However, the first woman to offer herself for the night declined to take the bath, which is a condition of entrance, and she was turned away. The bath, in fact, is one of the great drawbacks to the lodgings in the eyes of many of the applicants for a bed. In the Bowery lodging houses all they have to do is to turn into a bunk with their clothing on and turn out the next morning. But in the city's lodging house each man or woman must surrender his clothing on entering. The clothing is put into a bag and thoroughly fumigated by a scientific process. Meantime the lodger has taken a shower bath, washed himself thoroughly with soap, and he is then assigned to a clean nightgown and a bunk. He sleeps between clean sheets and in a well warmed room. In this winter of poverty and cold, the old ladies who have been overworked and the relief afforded by the new one was very welcome. The new building is six stories high. In the basement are the showers and the formaldehyde disinfecting plant, the laundry, dry, the vacuum cleaning plant and the ventilating fans. On the first floor are the offices, the reception room and the kitchen and dining room for men. On the second floor are accommodations for 50 to 100 women, including shower baths, clothing room, dining room and dormitory. The three floors above have dormitories for the accommodation of 500 men. The sixth floor is occupied by the help and on the roof is a store room and a day room for employees. The house cost the city about $500,000.

Kentucky Preachers Help Officers to Seize Liquor.

Mayfield, Ky., Apr. 6.—A posse of 100 citizens headed by county officers and all the ministers of the city marched on a blind tiger in the east edge of the town last night. After breaking down the doors they confiscated 12 gallons of whisky and after a prayer by one of the ministers in the party, marched through the streets and visited a second place.

Third Victim of Assassins.

Melroe, Ga., Apr. 6.—That Pope Hill, a prominent attorney of Macon, is the third victim of an assassin in the now celebrated Dodge case is the belief of the authorities of this county. The coroner's jury, after a careful examination, declared Hill was murdered by "parties unknown."

Lynch Slayer of Officer.

Pompano, Fla., Apr. 6.—Dave Alexander, a negro, was lynched here yesterday for the murder of Police Officer Canton, whom the negro stabbed to death early Sunday morning while resisting arrest in the negro section.

Fargo Gets Municipal Ownership.

Fargo, S. D., Apr. 6.—The people of Fargo, by an overwhelming majority, voted for municipal ownership of lighting and water plants yesterday. The campaign was one of the most strenuous in the history of the city.

TODAY'S ELECTION

Today's election means much to the citizens of Janesville. It will be the stay-at-home vote that defeats the candidates. It is the men who do not take enough interest in municipal affairs to go to the polls to vote that bring about conditions in civic government that need remedies of the radical nature.

Many questions of importance are to come before the new council for decision. The passage of an interurban franchise is one of the matters of importance, while although it is before the present council for consideration it will doubtless be left to the new council to pass.

The city is at present in the midst of a system of sewerage construction that needs careful attention. It is an important matter that should be thoroughly done. It is a problem that needs careful consideration of men well versed in the affairs and knowing what they are about.

The question of a new contract with the electric company is also another important item to be considered by the new council. This is a question of the utmost importance to the city. Good lighting of thoroughfares is a matter which deserves the closest attention of the men making it. The city pays a large sum yearly for this and they should receive the best service possible in return for their money.

These are but a few matters of importance that will come before the new council and if the men elected to-day do not handle matters in a proper manner it will be the fault of the taxpayer and voter who stays at home and fails to register his vote for or against the men named for the important office of alderman.

NO THANKS TO CONGRESS

Granting that general business conditions are gradually improving, as all hands seem to agree, the fact remains that the improvement is taking place, not because of the attitude of congress but in spite of it. The statement assembled in Washington are not helping the situation in the least. Their treatment of the tariff question is evasive, timid and open to the suspicion of downright selfishness. The average member of congress interprets tariff revision as meaning lower duties on all commodities except those produced in his own district.

That business should actually improve notwithstanding the disappointing course of a congress pledged to a rational, downward readjustment of tariff schedules is both remarkable and gratifying. It signifies that the underlying conditions of trade and industry are thoroughly sound and that not even the obstructionist tactics of thinkers and self-seekers can check the rising tide.

SHALL WE CELEBRATE?
 Tomorrow the election will be an echo of the past and the next problem before the citizens is the question of celebrating the Fourth of July. The question is: Shall we celebrate this year? If so, how? Many plans have been suggested. Many ideas discussed, which range from the usual one-day celebration to a week of Home-Coming. However, which is chosen it means good hard work for someone and the sooner the work begins and the matter is decided the better celebration the city can have. The men interested in the matter should hold a meeting and decide what they want.

INTERURBAN CONNECTION

The council has before it for consideration the question of another interurban project running from this city to Madison. The franchise has been prepared, has been published in the newspaper, and is now before the council, having passed its second reading. This is a question that affects every business industry in the city. It will mean much to Janesville if it is built and there is every probability that it will be built. The passage of the present ordinance will hasten matters and the question is one that is not to be handled lightly by the city fathers.

STILL EXAMINING

The special senatorial primary investigation is still investigating the men who handled money during the campaign last September. Before they get through they will have discovered that Stephenson was not the only man who wanted the office bad enough to use good big chunks of money to influence the voters. It takes money to carry on a gigantic state campaign and the legislature is apparently astonished that so much can be used.

No matter who is named Mayor today, the saloon men of the city must learn that the law must be complied with and it would not be a surprising feature if the anti-saloon element took matters in their own hands if the city officials do not handle the matter properly.

City Attorney Maxfield intends to see that all the so-called abuses of the public's purse are remedied before he leaves office and as a consequence he has now begun on the gas company, claiming that $150 is excessive.

Janesville is a peculiar city. The citizens object to cutting down trees that obstruct a sidewalk, preferring to build a walk around a tree and then refuse to permit an overhead connection to be made so a factory employing many men can enlarge its capacity.

The council is apparently going ahead in the matter of those saloon licenses in a manner that leads to no criticism except on the part of the men who broke the law and are to be made to suffer.

Taft is the peacemaker, not the wielder of the big stick. It would appear. He believes in the old adage that more flies can be caught with sugar than vinegar.

It would seem as though congress would pay some attention to the protests of the women of the United States against certain portions of their proposed tariff measure.

April showers bring spring flowers and one must not complain if the rain interferes with some of their plans for work as it is badly needed.

YOUR MOTHER.

"My mother has been dead several years."
 There had been a long and intimate conversation between the two men, and as he spoke these words one of them settled down on the cushions of the Pullman and continued:
 "My mother was an old fashioned mother. When I was a babe in arms she did not give me over to a nurse, but nursed me at her own breast.
 "She fashioned with her own hands the little garments that I wore. She taught me that simplest but most eloquent of all prayers, 'Now I lay me down to sleep.' Every night, even when I was a good big boy, she tucked the bedclothes about me in my trundle bed.
 "For years, long after I left home, she loved me and yearned over me, sorrowing in my sorrows, rejoicing in my small successes.
 "Do you know, the world has seemed a little lonelier since my mother died."
 There was a long silence between the two men, and then the other spoke:
 "My chief regret today is that before my mother died I sometimes neglected to write to her. And my fondest recollections are of the happy days I sometimes made for her.
 "It is the way of the world. I suppose our children will have the same regrets—and the same consolations—when we are dead. Our chiefest treasures are not valued until they are gone."
 "That is true," responded the other, "and—"
 "All that I am or hope to be I owe to my mother. Her Spartan spirit knew no departure from the straight lines of righteousness.
 "And as for my religion—well, she taught me the trustful faith of innocent childhood. And, having boxed the compass of religious thinking, I always come back to that simple faith."
 So much the writer overheard.
 Or, rather, what is written is a skeleton of what was said.
 And your mother,
 If some day she passed over to the other side, she cannot come back to you—strange limitation of mother love!
 But the sweet incense of her gracious life abides, and still grows the sweet flower of Asphodel—unfolding bud of immortality.
 For life is ever lord of death,
 And love can never lose its own.

20 COUNTIES WENT "DRY"

MICHIGAN'S ANTI-SALOON ELEMENT SCORES A BIG VICTORY.

SEVEN IN THE "WET" LIST

Republican State Ticket Wins by Estimated Majority of 75,000—Women Take Great Interest in the Election of School Board.

Detroit, Mich., Apr. 6.—Twenty out of the 27 counties which held option elections yesterday went "dry." This makes 31 of the state's 83 counties "dry," 11 having given victories to the anti-saloon element at former elections.

Following are the results:
"Dry"—Alcona, Allegan, Benzie, Branch, Calhoun, Charlevoix, Emmet, Genesee, Hillsdale, Ionia, Isabella, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Livingston, Nowata, Sanilac, Tuscola, Charlevoix.

"Wet"—Berrien, Huron, Montcalm, Mecosta, Ottawa, Washington and Monroe.

"We have broken the backbone of the liquor traffic in Michigan," declared Superintendent George W. Morrow of the Michigan Anti-Saloon league last night.

Republican Ticket Elected.

With practically all of the interest in the election centered in the abolition of the liquor traffic, indications are that the Republican state ticket has received a majority of upwards of 75,000.

The Republican state ticket, which was elected, is as follows: Justices of the supreme court, Charles A. Blair, Jackson, and John W. Stone, Marquette; regents of the University of Michigan, William L. Clements, Bay City, and George P. Codd, Detroit; member of the state board of education, William J. McKone of Albion; members of the state board of agriculture, William H. Wallace, Saginaw; T. R. Waterbury, Highland; R. J. Donnelly, Charlevoix; R. D. Graham, Grand Rapids, and W. L. Carpenter, Detroit. Mayors and city officials were elected in small cities of the state. In Detroit, where there was no majority election, interest in the election of school inspectors was intense.

Many Women at Polls.

Women's votes played a large part in the selection of the members of the school board. This is the only office for which women have the franchise in this city, and they turned out by the thousands, as a result of an unusually bitter campaign against a number of members of the present board who are seeking re-election.

Under the central counting board system in vogue here, it will be well into today before definite results are known, but the throngs of women at the polls indicated a record-breaking women's vote.

Berrien County Rejects Option.

St. Joseph, Mich., Apr. 6.—Prompted by the great annual bath excursion and resort industry with the solid support of the foreign voters which are represented in strong numbers in the rural parts, Berrien county rejected local option by a sweeping majority of 2,000.

The great resort interests of St. Joseph and Benton Harbor with the special privilege act endorsed by the foreign voters, the election for the "wet" seemed assured before the ballots were cast. The Anti-Saloon league of Michigan made the most desperate effort in the history of the state to carry Berrien county, but failed. They employed temperance speakers of national fame, including the famous W. B. Trickett, who made Kansas "dry."

Kentucky County Goes "Dry."

Ashland, Ky., Apr. 6.—In an election characterized by the most intense interest, Floyd county voted "dry" by a majority of 107. In this city, which is the center of the iron industry and the commercial capital of the Big Sandy Valley, the church bells were ringing hourly and women stood at the polls and worked, while children paraded the streets singing and banners played.

The victory of the "dry" means that 96 of the 119 counties in the state are wholly dry.

Massachusetts "Wets" Win.

Worcester, Mass., Apr. 6.—Two of the 14 towns in Worcester county, Charlton and South Bridge, which voted on the license question yesterday, went into the "wet" column, while another, Oxford, changed from license to no license. West Stockbridge, Lee and Uxbridge, which have been "dry," voted to license the sale of liquor.

One Jailbreaker Is Caught.

Ashville, N. C., Apr. 6.—George Barton, alias "Chicago Army," sergeant, who with Jake Moore, alias "Tennessee Dutch," broke from Greenville jail Sunday, was captured last night after a desperate fight with Deputy Sheriff Rogers at Craggy, several miles from here. "Tennessee Dutch," after wrenching a revolver from Rogers, escaped. Barton, who has only one arm, was lodged in the county jail at Ashville.

Dryan Addresses Texas Solons.

Austin, Tex., Apr. 6.—W. J. Bryan addressed the legislature here yesterday in favor of a bank deposit guaranty bill. Mr. Bryan declared that the national Democratic platform was binding and that the Texas would not do their duty unless they passed the measure.

The youngest editor and the smallest newspaper in the world. Walter Bersey and a copy of his NEWSPAPER CALLED "SMALBITTS."

Detroit, Mich.—Walter Bersey, the 11-year-old son of Major John S. Bersey, commander of the Light Guards, is undoubtedly the youngest newspaper editor in the world and his weekly edition, consisting of a one-page paper about 1 1/2 inches by 1 1/2 inches, published in May, the smallest newspaper in the world. The editor of "Smalbitts" will attain the age of 14 years in May. He will not know very much more about journalism than he does now, for there is little left for him to learn. His technical vocabulary is well-nigh perfect, and the wiles of an editor are at the tips of his fingers.

"Smalbitts, the Great Newspaper," is the title of his sheet, and it appears at the top of every one of its four or five small pages. The rest of the page is occupied by statements such as these:
"The Venezuela courts have expelled Castro."
"Japs value for peace."
"Slight quakes have been felt in Spain."
"China has created a navy."
Each page has room for about five or six news statements of the nature, called from the important stories of the week.

As soon as school closes Friday, Walter Bersey and a companion hasten to their work, Bersey to handle the editorial end, his friend to attend to the mechanical department. "I don't care much about setting type," is Bersey's comment when asked about the division of labor. "I'd rather prepare the news."

The paper has been in existence since the first week in February, and has attained a circulation of 42. The trials of founding a newspaper are thus discussed by the editor.

"We just started, and our subscribers come to us. We charge 4 cents a month. Now, we never expect to increase our rates. If anything, we'll diminish them."

"Add? Well, we used to have ads when we started. We had a show you know, and we advertised that, but people said there was too much advertising and not enough news, so we stopped."

"We got our news from a paper that might few people get hold of, so it's new when it reaches subscribers. We get out one page at a time and then paste them together, as we haven't got any pasting machine on our press. We haven't used any pictures, but I know a boy who said he'd carve us a cut of wood and maybe we'll use that."

Ostrich Farming Profitable.

A new industry which promises great possibilities has been started in Australia. At Nardoo, Coomabie, ostrich farming is meeting with success. There are 120 ostriches on one farm. The firm is using incubators, the same as those used to hatch out the modest product of the domestic hen, only that the egg drawers are made deeper for the purpose, while the temperature for a successful hatch, is 102 degrees Fahrenheit. Artificial incubation is preferred to natural. The young ostriches require careful handling for the first month or six weeks of their existence, the one essential being green food, such as lucerne. The value of the feathers produced by each bird a year is $10. They can be plucked at any time after they are large enough, and yield feathers black, white and drab in color. The male bird yields the most valuable feathers.

Steer More and Blow Less.

If the same amount of effort expended on the automobile horn to get people to move out of your way, were used to move the steering wheel slightly so as not to seem to bear directly upon the person in front, and if you should steer around wagons in the road, as many times out of ten you must do in the end, rather than blow

HOSERY

Owing to the inability of manufacturers to make deliveries many stocks are incomplete and many merchants are bound to be short. The Big Store is and will be in a position to fill all orders in the hosiery line. A visit to our hosiery section will quickly prove this. Colored hose are very much in demand and it will increase as the season advances, as fashion dictates that the summer dresses shall be matched with hose.

At 50c we show a beautiful assortment in plain colors and polka dots, in fine and mercerized, closely imitating silk. Colors are pink, old rose, wine, light blue, navy, French gray and smoke.

NEW EMBROIDERY

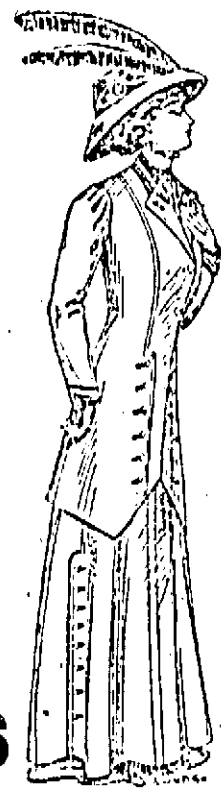

In the new embroideries bold open-work patterns are in demand. Wide flouncing and bands are widely used for making entire lingerie dresses and will be very much in vogue this spring and summer. We show beautiful matched sets in Swiss, Nainsook and Hamburg, 1 1/2 to 2 inches wide, 12 1/2c to 20c

Shadow Stripes and Checks are new in embroideries. Made of fine sheer Swiss, much used for trimming fine undermuslin. Edges and insertions to match. 4 to 6 inches wide, 30c to 50c

This is a mere smattering. Our stock is immense.

A hundred and one novelties—a multitude of pretty trifles that are, nevertheless, an important part of a woman's toilet. Couldn't list them all in a page, but they are all here and in very latest styles—Neckwear, Belts, Ribbons, Velling, dainty, delicate, fairy-like Laces and Embroideries, and so on, through the entire list.

Enough is said when we tell you that our assortments are larger and values better, if possible, than ever before.

In order to take care of the tremendous Easter business we have 10 people working in our alteration department. We are enjoying the largest sale of suits, covert coats, fancy evening coats and silk gowns that we have ever had. The main reason of our success lies in our superior styles. We are told time and again, every day, that we have the prettiest line of ready-to-wear garments to be found in several cities. This is no dream. A glance at our workroom would prove that we are not filling the public with hot air, but are selling the stuff. We have had as many as 75 suits in our alteration department at one time, besides the coats and skirts. We merely mention this, so that if you want a new suit or coat, you can come right to headquarters.

DEMOCRAT CLARK JOLTS MR. BRYAN

FLORIDA CONGRESSMAN SAYS
SOUTH WON'T FOLLOW "POP-ULIST LEADER" AGAIN.

WARM DEBATE ON TARIFF

Friday Afternoon Set for Vote on the Payne Bill After Gag Rule Is Adopted—Twenty Republicans Fight Plan.

Washington, Apr. 6.—The house decided to vote on the Payne tariff bill at three o'clock Friday afternoon, when all debate must cease.

The long expected resolution from the committee on rules closing general debate, providing for certain committee amendments and a full and free opportunity to alter the tariff and duties schedules was reported late in the day and adopted with 16 votes to spare, notwithstanding the desertion of 20 Republicans.

Four of the 16 votes came from the Louisiana delegation, who likewise broke away from their party. Provisions to the adoption of the resolution there was some severe criticism of it from the Democratic side.

Democrat Scores Bryan.
And so from the interest which attached to this proceeding was the speech of Mr. Clark of Florida, who denounced Bryan and Bryanism, Populism and Populists, and who declared that he would support the Payne bill if it contained what his constituents wanted—a duty on sea island cotton and protection for citrus fruits, pineapples, etc. His remarks led him into an exciting colloquy with Mr. Randall of Texas and other Democrats, but he declared that, having been instructed by the legislature of his state and his constituents as to the stand he should take on the articles mentioned, he would not violate his solemn obligation to them. His whole attitude was one of defiance to the Democrats of the house.

Before the rule was reported there were numerous speeches on the bill, those occupying the floor being Messrs. Bartlett of Georgia, Cullender of Kansas, Burgess of Texas, Stanley of Kentucky, Holman of Alabama, Gillespie of Texas, Thibodeau of Illinois, Saunders of Virginia, Reader of Kansas, and Madden of Illinois.

An interested spectator throughout almost the entire session was Mrs. Taft, who was accompanied by her two sons and Capt. Archibald Hunt, U. S. A., one of the president's aides.

Clark Starts Squabble.
Mr. Clark called attention to memorials of the Florida legislature asking for a duty on long staple cotton and citrus fruits, etc. "I am instructed in that regard," he exclaimed, "and so harkens and upholds Democrats can make me violate a solemn obligation I owe."

Believing Mr. Clark's remarks about Populism applied to him, Mr. Randall denied that any Populism was contained in his record.

"Did you intend for the house and the country to understand that the Democracy is in any way affiliated with Populism?" asked Mr. Randall.

"We don't intend," retorted Mr. Clark, "so far as I am concerned, and I believe the people I represent, to follow your Nebraska Populist leader any more."

"Does the gentleman stand with the New Jersey Democrat that thinks that Bryan knew too much of the Decalogue to be president of the United States?" propounded Mr. Randall.

South's Great Mistake.
"The southern Democracy," responded Mr. Clark, "never made a greater mistake than when it turned its back on its Democratic friends in the east that it has driven from the party and tied up with Populism out in Nebraska."

Mr. Randall declared that Mr. Bryan needed no defense at his hands, and asked Mr. Clark if he was a Cleveland Democrat on the tariff, and if he stood for the doctrine of free raw materials.

"I am just a plain, old-fashioned Democrat," drawled Mr. Clark, amid laughter.

Mr. Clark declared he was "sick and tired of hearing my southern colleagues talk of the poor men of the south."

"Have you no convictions?" asked Mr. Finley of South Carolina.

"I have," responded Mr. Clark, "my convictions of men who represent nothing but a short bale of cotton, a negro and a mulatto."

Thunderous applause on the Republican side interrupted Mr. Clark, and when quiet was restored he continued:

"The Democracy ought to be progressive if it is anything. I do not consider that you gentlemen," he declared, "looking around on the Democratic side of the house, represent Democracy any more than I do. We will meet at the next national convention and we will then see who is to control and who will represent the Democratic sentiment of this great republic of ours."

In the midst of a heated general debate, which developed no new features, Mr. Clark of Missouri moved that the committee of the whole house, under which the discussion was proceeding, rise. This was designed to put an end to the debate in committee and leave the whole proposition in the air. It was unsuccessful, however, the vote resulting, yeas 80, nays 139.

Fordney Assails Republicans.
Mr. Fordney of Michigan caused a stir when he asserted that the representatives from Kansas and Iowa were not Republicans. "You are not even good protectionists," he said. They were, he said, demanding protection to the industries of their states, and free trade on the products of another state, and therefore were "no bigger than a fly speck on the map of the world." He did not like the rule, he said, but he would vote for it. Answering all the arguments against the rule, Chairman Payne declared that the Republican party would be held responsible for the bill before the country. That fact, he said, had weighed upon the committee in the preparation of the bill. He asserted that every fact and every source of information had been sought in order that a bill might be presented that would do simple justice to the people of the United States, the consumer and the laborer. Responsibility on the Democratic side, he said, was different. "It is theirs to criticize, not to construct," he declared.

Dalzell Stops Debate.
Debate was brought to a close by Mr. Dalzell, who moved the previous question. On the motion for the previous question the Democrats forced a roll call.

The vote resulted: Yeas, 190; nays, 139; present ones and the previous question was accordingly ordered.

Another roll call then was forced by the Democrats on the adoption of the rule. The order was adopted, yeas, 194; nays, 178; present ones.

Twenty Republicans voted against the rule and four Democrats for it, as follows:

Republicans—Austin of Tennessee, Carey, Cooper, Lenoir, Morse, and Nelson of Wisconsin; Dawson, Good, Hughes, Pickett, Woods, Hubbard and Kendall of Iowa; Hineshaw and Norris of Nebraska; Lindbergh of Minnesota; Murdoch of Kansas; Parsons of New York; Pollexler of Washington and Young of Michigan.

Democrats—Houderwood, Bateman, Pajo and Wickliffe of Louisiana.

Snag Is Encountered.
On the previous question Kopp of Wisconsin and Wilson of Illinois joined the Republicans just named in voting against the motion. Speaker Cannon then ordered that the bill be taken up and considered for amendment.

Mr. Fordney of Michigan at once moved to strike out the countervailing provision of the tariff schedule. A snag was immediately encountered by Mr. Payne moving that the committee rise. This was for the purpose of laying the bill aside and moving an adjournment, but the Democrats stoutly resisted and availed themselves of all parliamentary tactics to thwart him.

Mr. Payne's motion prevailed, 192 to 146, and he immediately thereafter moved to adjourn. The Democrats forced another roll call. The motion, however, was carried and the house adjourned until to-day.

Many bills and resolutions were introduced in the senate but there was no debate. After a short executive session adjournment was taken until Thursday.

KELLOGG QUOTES TAFT IN OIL TRUST FIGHT

Decision Rendered by President When a Federal Judge Used in Government Argument.

St. Louis, Apr. 6.—For the first time in the courts of this country, a president of the United States was quoted as a prevailing legal authority during the close of Special United States Attorney General Frank B. Kellogg's argument in the United States circuit court in the government's case to dissolve the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, as a violator of the Sherman act.

Mr. Kellogg read at length from a decision rendered by the Taft in the Addyston pipe case, when a judge in Cincinnati. The issue in the case involved was an alleged restraint of trade.

The federal lawyer hurried through his argument in a rapid manner, promising to conclude his opening remarks at noon to-day, leaving his associate, C. B. Morrison, to finish with an argument covering the alleged unfair competition of the defendants. As one of the four judges of the court is to leave St. Louis Saturday, Mr. Kellogg will insist upon the defense completing its argument by Friday evening. This would leave John G. Milburn of New York, Morris Rosenthal of Chicago, John G. Johnson of Philadelphia and David G. Watson of Pittsburgh but two and a half hours each to open their defense, with Friday for the Standard's concluding argument and Saturday for Mr. Kellogg's.

This, the defense will bitterly oppose. In all likelihood the arguments will run well into next week, as fully five days will be required by the defendants' lawyers in stating their defense.

With but little by way of preliminaries or generalities, Mr. Kellogg yesterday plunged into his subject. He commenced with a rather full review of the evidence taken by the government, before discussing the law applicable to his case. He told of the combination effected by John D. Rockefeller, William Rockefeller and Henry M. Flinger, in 1878, conceived, he declared, to effect a monopoly of the petroleum trade, both domestic and export. It was at that moment, according to the federal lawyer, that the alleged illegal conspiracy to monopolize the oil trade was conceived. Later, said Mr. Kellogg, Henry H. Rogers, John D. Archibald, Oliver H. Payne and Charles M. Pratt were taken into the conspiracy by the other defendants.

Washington, Apr. 6.—Considerable interest attaches to the statements from Caracas, indicating the possibility of President Gomez abdicating temporarily in favor of the second vice-president. Not a word has reached here officially regarding the report.

CHAPTER I.

The Masters.

I heard about the pair first from Emmeline Eldridge, "Emmie T." as we always call her. She was first mate to the cook at the Old Summer House house that summer. She came down to the landing one morning after breakfast and have alongside of whom I was sitting in the stern of my sloop, the Dora Bassett, untangling fish lines. She had a tin pail in her flat, indicating that her sailing orders was to go after milk. But she saw me and run down in ballast to swap yarns.

"My sister Mr. Pratt," she says, "I have heard about you. You are a scoundrel."

"Yes," I says, "Ever since I come to Wellmouth."

"I mean about what him and his wife has just done," she says, "It's the queerest thing! You'll never guess it in the world."

"Ain't been giving him money to the poor, has he?" says I, for, generally speaking, it takes a strong man and a cold chisel to separate a scoundrel from a coin.

"Oh! ain't you the funniest thing!" she squeals. "No indeed! He's let his house to some city folks, and—"

"Ain't that the cook calling you?" I asks. I'm a homophobe when it comes to Emmeline T.; I like to take her in small doses—she agrees with me better than that way.

It was the cook, and Emmeline hopped off after the milk, only stopping long enough to yell back: "Folks say they're dreadful rich and stylish. I'll tell you next time I see you."

Well, I calmed down wouldn't—not if I saw her first—and didn't pay no more attention to the yarn, except to think that June was pretty early for city folks to be renting houses. There was only three or four boarders at the Old House so far, and I was to take a couple of 'em over to Trumet in the sloop that very day.

But, while we was on the way over, one of the couple—sort of a light-toned edition of Emmeline T., she was—she turns to her mate, another pullet from the same coop, and says: "Oh! say!" she says. "Have you heard about the two young fellows from New York who've rented that Scudder house on the wharf—that do they call it? Oh, yes! the Nuck do they call it? I heard Nettle Brown say they were too dear for anything. Let's drive past there to-morrow; shall we?"

So there it was again, and I began to wonder what sort of critters Natch had hooked. I judged that they must be a kind of goldfish or he wouldn't have baited for 'em. Natch ain't the man to be satisfied with a mess of sculpins.

I landed the boarders at Trumet and they went up to the village to do some shopping. Then I headed across the harbor to shake hands with the Trumet light keeper, who is a friend of mine. His wife told me he'd gone over to town, so I come about and back to the landing again. And I'm blessed if there wasn't Natch Scudder himself, setting on a mackerel keg at the end of the wharf and looking worried.

I hadn't holsted the Jib on the way down, and now I got the mainsail drop and went forward.

"Hello, Natch!" I hailed, as the Dora Bassett slid up to the wharf.

He kind of jumped, and looked at me as if he'd just woke up.

"Hello, Sol!" he says, sort of mournful. Then he turned his eyes toward the bay again and appeared to be starting in on another nap.

"Hear you got some boarders over to your home?" I says, heaving him a palor of her cheek, the horror in her eyes. For another age I sat silent, gazing across the deserted cabin out through an open port, afraid to disturb the motionless woman beside me. Finally my fingers, almost unconsciously, crept across the rail of the settee until they touched her own.

"Doris," I whispered, pleadingly, confused by her silence, "is it possible that you already know this?"

She did not raise her bowed head, but I felt the soft pressure of her hand.

"You, Jack, I—I know," she acknowledged, doubtfully. "Sanchez told me in the boat when he felt himself to be dying. It was then I came back and took you in my arms. But I couldn't tell you—I could not tell you. I felt that if we were saved you must learn it from other lips than mine."

"But now we both know."

She lifted her eyes suddenly, eyes matted with tears, and I realized the truth forever.

THE END.

Logging Books.

You have in your library a set of books that you very much prize. The set is incomplete because a year ago a neighbor who has since removed to another city, borrowed two volumes and did not return them. Your first mistake was in loaning the books; your next, in not reclaiming after the lapse of two or three months. I would rather loan a complete set from my library than to break it by the loan of a single volume. One many always give a friend permission to come and read such a book in the room where it belongs. When anyone borrows a book and retains it indefinitely, a note should be sent, politely begging for its return. People do not borrow your clothing, jewelry or bric-a-brac, but, strangely enough, many persons display no reluctance in asking the loan of a book. You, of course, have your own exceptions; there are dear friends to whom books are precious, who know how to care for them and with whom it is a pleasure to exchange them at discretion.—Woman's Home Companion.

More Than He Could Say.

A native-born American member of a party of four business men who often lunched together took great delight in joking the others on their foreign birth.

"It's all very well for you fellows to talk about what we need in this country," he said, "but when you come to think of it, you're really only intruders. Not one of you was born here. You're welcome to this country, of course, but you really oughtn't to forget what you owe us natives who open our doors to you."

"Maybe," said an Irishman in the party, thoughtfully. "Maybe. But there's one thing you seem to forget: I came into this country with no fare paid and no clothes on my back. Can you say the same?"—Everybody's Magazine.

An Exception.

"Thus culinary journals state that all good cooks peel their onions under water," remarked the boarder who is always reading odd items.

"That's nothing unusual," laughed the comedian boarder. "I know a cook who peels his vegetables underwater."

"Ridiculous!"

"Not at all. He is cook on a submarine boat."

REACHING THE SPOT.

It Can Be Done, So Scores of Janesville Citizens Say.

To cure an aching back. The pains of rheumatism. The tired-out feelings. You must reach the spot—get at the cause.

In most cases it's the kidneys. Don't's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys.

Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson, living at 58 Terrace St., Janesville, Wis., says: "I have been a sufferer from rheumatism and kidney trouble for the past ten or twelve years and during that time have had some bad spells. I did not suffer so much from my kidneys, which occasionally became disordered but was constantly annoyed by a swelling of my joints. I could do nothing that would give me relief until finally about four years ago I learned of Don's Kidney Pills and sent to the People's Drug Co. for a supply. I was soon feeling better and my kidneys grew stronger. I have not been troubled since and it is the only preparation that keeps my kidneys in good condition. I heartily recommend Don's Kidney Pills to others."

GRAY HAIRS are every woman's enemy and should be guarded against in every way. Nothing contributes so much to a woman's beauty as her hair, and it should be every woman's duty to take the best care of it.

But Now We Both Know.

GET JURY IN SAMPSON CASE.

Taking of Testimony in Murder Case Begins To-Day.

Lyons, N. Y., Apr. 6.—The work of selecting the jury, which is to sit in judgment over the fate of Mrs. Georgia Alyn Sampson, charged with the killing, last November of her husband, Harry Sampson, having been completed yesterday, the presentation of the state's case was made at the opening of the court session to-day.

An interesting figure in the trial is the daughter of District Attorney Gilbert, Miss Bernice Gilbert, who sat by her father's side at counsel table and frequently conferred with him on interrogations as to put to witness.

The young defendant expressed herself as pleased with the men, who will weigh the evidence of her guilt or innocence and declared her belief that she would be freed.

SAVED BY HIS "GALLUSSES."

Miner Plunges Down Shaft But Suspenders Stop Fall.

Shamokin, Pa., Apr. 6.—Playing "tiger" about a 200-foot mine breach, James Kroger and a lot more companions laughed and cheered. Suddenly they waited from terror as Kroger slipped and disappeared down the breach. "They ran for help and miners soon appeared with a rope.

In his fall Kroger's suspenders caught on a projecting timber 50 feet from the surface. He grasped it and drew himself up until he sat on the post, whereupon, although badly bruised, he waited for help. The rope was lowered, he fastened it about his arms and was drawn to the surface.

SOOTHING WASH CURES ECZEMA

Oil of Wintergreen Compound Solves a Vexing Medical Problem.

One of the most vexing problems in all medicine appears at last to have been solved by the most simple of all remedies. Ordinarily oil of wintergreen properly compounded with glycerine and other mild heat liquids, tones up the healthy skin while killing and ultimately removing the eczema germs.

This compound, known as D. D. D. Prescription, has now so thoroughly proven its efficacy that druggists recommend it unhesitatingly.

The Sheriff of Franklin Co., Frankfort, Ky., Mr. W. H. Graham, writes: "My twelve-year-old daughter had been suffering with an obstinate form of eczema for more than two years. We had under the care of the best physicians here, but getting no relief, we were induced to try D. D. D. Prescription. "She was entirely relieved. It has been more than one year since she ceased the use of the remedy, and no sign of the trouble has appeared."

We recommend D. D. D. Prescription to all sufferers from eczema. Baker's Drug Store and Holmstrom's Drug Store.

Unable to Learn.

A remarkable report concerning a Peckham schoolboy who cannot learn was presented by the education committee of the London county council. Though nearly 13, the boy has only learned during his career two or three letters, and these he has forgotten. He cannot write, neither can he calculate. It was decided to expel the boy from school.

Cambridge, Mass., Apr. 6.—"All newspaper reports purporting to emanate from me that I have either accepted or declined the post of ambassador to Great Britain are absolutely unauthorized," said President Charles W. Elliot.

Remedies are Needed

Were we perfect, which we are not, medicines would not often be needed. But since our systems have become weakened, impaired and broken down through indiscretions which have gone on from the early ages, through countless generations, remedies are needed to aid Nature in correcting our inherited and otherwise acquired weaknesses. To reach the seat of stomach weakness and consequent digestive troubles, there is nothing so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, a glyceric compound, extracted from native medicinal roots—sold for over forty years with great satisfaction to all users. For Weak Stomach, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Pain in the Stomach after eating, Heartburn, Indigestion, Heaviness of food, Chronic Diarrhea and other Intestinal Derangements, the "Discovery" is a time-proven and most efficient remedy.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, April 9, 1860.—Attempted Suicide.—At about 7 o'clock this morning, Dr. J. B. Whiting was called to see a young man well known in this city, Charles A. Baker, who had been seized with convulsions, and the symptoms indicated that the patient was under the influence of violent poison. An investigation of the case developed the fact that young Baker had procured five grains of strychnine at Colwell's drug store, and taken enough, as he supposed, to procure death. He has been lying in an unconscious condition since morning until four o'clock this afternoon when he has rallied a little, and the physicians do not entirely despair of his life. Doctors Whiting,

Brewster, Judd, and Galliger have been with him since morning, doing their best to save the young man's life. No reason is assigned by the young man's friends for this attempt upon his own life. The doctors agree in the opinion that he swallowed about two grains of strychnine. As we go to press, all hopes are entertained for his recovery.

The Election.—The election is passing off quietly as we go to press and at 2 o'clock this afternoon the vote stood in the different wards as follows: 1st Ward 279; 2d Ward, 230; 3d Ward, 251; 4th Ward 280. At half past three the vote stood as follows: First Ward 337; Second Ward 300; Third Ward 251; Fourth Ward 305.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than of other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors prescribed local remedies and proceeded to cut, burn, and cauterize, but constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. It is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.
